SUMMARY

As a Software Developer with a dynamic and team-oriented mindset, I bring over a year of experience in software and web development, data analysis, project management, and cybersecurity. My specialty lies in innovatively creating and modifying applications. My effective communication skills foster seamless collaboration with cross-functional teams, enabling me to contribute significantly to the design, development, and maintenance of cutting-edge software solutions. My approach is always forward-thinking, ensuring that the applications I work on are not just functional, but also innovative and future-ready.
